THE HICKMAN COURIER.
HICKMAN, KY.,
FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1893.

If Carlile goes into the Cabinet the Washington Post would like to see Watterson in the Senate.

Tug Frankfort Argues attention to the fact that in the event Carlile goes into the Cabinet the unexpired term in the Senate would be too short to be elected, he would be seated, would be seated, would be seated for only two years from March 4th, 1893, and the Legislature 1894 would be unable to elect a successor for a full term.

From the various resolutions offered in Congress, it seems that there will be a thorough investigation of the financial condition of the administration and of the departments. The investigation should be complete, and it will receive another endorsement of the Democratic party.

CALIFORNIA adopted by a majority of 174,014 a resolution looking to the election of United States Senators by direct popular vote. This is the first to take action on the "direct" direction, and it is altogether proper that it should be so. Senatorship has come in the highest bidder; there ever since the State was organized.

The final vote of the Electoral College, as cast, was Cleveland 27, Harrison 143, Weaver 22. The vote is now certified to the Vice-President, and on Feb. 4th is open to counted in the presence of both Houses of Congress, when Mr. Cleveland will be presented duly to the office of President of the United States, and Adlai Stevenson, Vice-President.

Some of the colored people of Kentucky like the idea of Fred Douglass as the leader of the party of nullifying the Separate Coach Law. His reply is full of good, "by the practice of self-government, our part, and by doing as little traveling as possible, and keeping our money in the pockets staying at home, and saving the expense of property and education, and the building up of many children."

The Governor of Kansas, Mr. Lewelling, to prove his claim to full affiliation in the Populist ranks, has developed a new crank neck. The new is the old, and in his message, it is to appear on board of loan commissioners for each county, to negotiate loans on farm property. If thought advisable, the commissioners will make the loans. It would not be necessary for the commissioners to have funds, as provided in the bill, to be loaned to the State, and the interest of 6 per cent. would be borne down, and there would be no broker's charges. If foreclosed, should become necessary, the county would be forced to the property, and the debt would be so small in proportion to the value of the property that it could be readily disposed of, as was done in the case of the sub-treasury plan, and based on the same line of thought, Governor-elect Lewelling may now enter into full affiliation.

THE PENNSYLVANIA INSURANCE.

The pension business has come a great load to the country. People do not object to the pensions which are given to deserving soldiers who cannot support themselves on account of disability. The pension is a great expense to the public. The political management has come out of the public Treasury a monetary pension to able-bodied men, and a forced pension of 60 cents a month for invalids—a sum which hardly pays him for his production. The theory of the pension is to relieve distress. Public sentiment has been applied to the theory that a pension is to be used to maintain a quasi-political organization within the Republican party. —Cincinnati Times-Star.

BETTER TIMES IN THIS MONTH.

The good effects of the election of Mr. Cleveland and the domination of the Democracy in the last election are already being felt in the South. These are indicated in the rapid increase of leading Southern manufacturing and textile factories. Letters received by prominent business houses from nearly all portions of the South say that the condition of the country is improving, and that the feeling existing in the localities of the writers is known to many years past. Investors those concerned in the textile factories are placing their money in new manufacturing enterprises and other solid business projects than before.

This condition of affairs does not seem to be confined to one or two particular States, but seems to be general, to all the States, those in the South, those in the North. Probably it is more marked in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, than in any of the other States. It is remarkable that the hopefulness exists in a more or less extent in nearly all of the others.

Has the election of November last occurred before the Legislatures of the Southern States made their appropriations for the great expenses of the campaign? It seems that nearly all the States are not far more liberal. At the time these States acted there was considerable depression in the cotton and less remote Southern States. —Exchange.

Carlile's Successor and the People.

It will doubtless resolve upon the present Legislature to elect a successor to Mr. Carlile, it being accepted as a fact that Mr. Carlile is to go into Mr. Cleveland's cabinet. The members were chosen with no view as to the duty of electing a Senator, and therefore have no immediate or direct instructions as to the people's choice. The sentiment of Democrats throughout the country is in favor of electing Senatorial candidates.

From the various resolutions offered in Congress, it seems that there will be a thorough investigation of the financial condition of the departments. The investigation should be complete, and it will receive another endorsement of the Democratic party.

A resolution was adopted by the Presidential electors of Mr. Cleveland, amending the House, Mr. C. C. Quinn, of New York, and the Democratic State Central Committee, for the able manner in which he conducted the recent campaign in Kentucky.

Will all now be on the "look out in the trenches" in the neck of the woods, but, probably, the splendid management was shown in the "skill hunt" or "masterly in action" plan, and based on the same line of thought, Governor-elect Lewelling may now enter into full affiliation.
